Sec. 2. Legislative findings

A. The Legislature finds:

1. The right to keep and bear arms is a fundamental individual right that shall not be infringed.

2. That it is the intent of the Legislature in enacting this act to protect Arizona employees, including law enforcement officers, from being directed, through federal executive orders, agency orders, statutes, laws, rules or regulations enacted or promulgated on or after the effective date of this act to violate their oath of office and individual rights affirmed under the second amendment to the Constitution of the United States and article II, section 26, Constitution of Arizona.

3. That pursuant to and in furtherance of the principles of federalism enshrined in the Constitution of the United States, the federal government may not commandeer this state's officers, agents or employees to participate in the enforcement or facilitation of any federal program not expressly required by the Constitution of the United States.

4. That this right to be free from the commandeering hand of the federal government has been most notably recognized by the United States Supreme Court in Printz v. United States when the Court held, "The Federal Government may neither issue directives requiring the States to address particular problems, nor command the States' officers, or those of their political subdivisions, to administer or enforce a federal regulatory program".

5. That the anticommandeering principles recognized by the United States Supreme Court in Printz v. United States are predicated on the advice of James Madison, who in Federalist Number 46 advised "a refusal to cooperate with officers of the Union" in response to either unconstitutional federal measures or constitutional but unpopular federal measures."
