Senate Democrats elect new leadership

STATE CAPITOL, PHOENIX – New and returning members of the Senate Democratic Caucus have elected Senator Katie Hobbs as leader, Senator Steve Farley as assistant leader and Senators-elect Lupe Contreras and Martin J. Quezada as co-whips. The Caucus also selected Senator David Bradley to serve as leader pro-tem and Senator Barbara McGuire to continue her role as rural liaison.

“Our caucus is strong, united and ready to make the voices of our constituents heard on the issues that are important to them. We will bring forward good ideas with the right priorities to help set Arizona on the path to recovery and success,” said Sen. Hobbs.

“During this coming session the Legislature will have many difficult decisions to make on issues that will affect our state for years to come. We look forward to working with the majority to find real solutions that protect our children, their schools, the economy and our future.”
