2019 INTERNAL REFERENCE MANUAL

The Internal Reference Manual assists in the legislative drafting process by noting certain statutory references that might otherwise be difficult to locate by searching an electronic database such as Westlaw or Perceptive. The staff of the Arizona Legislative Council updates this manual each year to reflect statutory reference changes in laws enacted during the previous legislative session. This edition has been updated to incorporate changes through the Fifty-fourth Legislature, First Regular Session.

The Internal Reference Manual shows references only to title, chapter and article citations in the Arizona Revised Statutes. It does not include references to individual section numbers that can be easily found in an electronic database search.

This document also indicates section numbers that are referenced in a "through" or "to" string and that would not appear in an electronic search of that section number. For example, section 9-522 refers to "sections 9-515 through 9-518." Accordingly, this manual notes that sections 9-515, 9-516, 9-517 and 9-518 are referred to in section 9-522. An electronic search of section 9-516 or 9-517 would not reveal these references since those section numbers do not actually appear in section 9-522.

The use of "through" or "to" can further result in uncertainty about which sections are intended to be referenced. Section 9-275, for example, refers to "sections 9-271 to 9-274," but it is unclear whether section 9-272.01 is implicitly included in that reference of section numbers. This manual lists these decimal references, but it is the drafter's responsibility to determine whether the reference applies to the amendment being considered or whether clarification is needed. Because of the potential for ambiguity, "through" or "to" should not be used in drafting to refer to sections, articles, chapters or titles.

Finally, the Internal Reference Manual lists those sections that are incorrectly cited and for which a search of that section number would not produce the reference sought. For example, section 31-235 incorrectly cites section 13-3004, so this manual indicates section 13-3001--the correct reference--and footnotes the incorrect citation.

Users are urged to notify Legislative Council of any error they find in this document.
