SB 1453: ~~school districts; aggregate expenditure limitation~~

NOW: community colleges; four-year degrees

Sponsor: Senator Boyer, LD 20

House Engrossed

Overview

Allows community colleges to offer accredited four-year baccalaureate degrees.

History

Currently, statute defines community college to mean an educational institution that is operated by a community college district board (district board) and that provides a program not exceeding two years. District boards set standards for the establishment, development, administration, operation and accreditation of community colleges in a district. District boards fix tuition and fees, as well as determine curricula and budgetary needs (A.R.S. § 15-1445). These district boards also have the power to award degrees, certificates and diplomas upon the completion of courses and curricula (A.R.S. § 15-1444).

Statute also allows counties to establish a provisional community college district. These provisional community college districts are required to contract with an existing community college district to provide instructional and student services within the community college tuition financing district. Provisional community college districts cannot award degrees, certificates or diplomas (A.R.S. §§ 15-1401, 15-1409).
