Fifty-Sixth Legislature, First Regular Session

AMENDED
FACT SHEET FOR S.C.R. 1024

~~initiative; referendum; signatures; legislative districts.~~
(NOW: ideologies; prohibition)

Purpose

Subject to voter approval, constitutionally prohibits the state from compelling an individual to endorse giving preferential treatment on the basis of race or ethnicity as a condition of any hiring, promotion or contracting decision.

Background

The Fourteenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution deems all persons who are born or naturalized in the United States and subject to U.S. jurisdiction to be citizens of the United States and their state of residence. A state may not: 1) make or enforce a law abridging the privileges or immunities of a U.S. citizen; 2) deprive a person of life, liberty or property without due process of law; or 3) deny a person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of law. The Fourteenth Amendment also includes a requirement to reduce a state's apportionment of representatives for denying certain persons the right to vote and a prohibition against certain officials who have engaged in insurrection or rebellion holding office. Congress has the power to enforce the provisions by appropriate legislation (U.S. Const. amend. XIV). Title VI of the federal Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibits a person from being excluded from participation in, denied the benefits of or subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving federal financial assistance based on race, color or national origin (P.L. 88-352, 88th Congress, 1964).

The State of Arizona may not grant preferential treatment to or discriminate against any individual or group on the basis of race, sex, color, ethnicity or national origin in relation to public employment, education or contracts. The Arizona Constitution does not prohibit: 1) bona fide qualifications based on sex that are reasonably necessary for the normal operation of public employment, education or contracting; 2) any action that must be taken to establish or maintain eligibility for any federal program if ineligibility would result in a loss of federal monies to Arizona; and 3) invalidating any court order or consent decree that is in force (Ariz. Const. art 2 § 36).

There is no anticipated fiscal impact to the state General Fund associated with this legislation.
