Representatives Justin Wilmeth & Steve Kaiser Named Among Nation’s Emerging Leaders

STATE CAPITOL, PHOENIX – It was announced today that State Representatives Justin Wilmeth and Steve Kaiser were among 25 Republican legislators from around the nation selected to participate in GOPAC’s 2022 Class of Emerging Leaders, an honor to recognize the members’ strong sense of service, leadership, and purpose in the Arizona State Legislature.

The GOPAC Emerging Leaders Program is a year-long initiative to educate the next generation of Republican legislators.

GOPAC Chairman David Avella said in his announcement, “As Americans are seeking solutions to the issues our communities face, our 2022 class of Emerging Leaders has an excellent opportunity to advance ideas to make the lives of their constituents easier, safer, and better. We welcome being part of their development and doing our part to support their success.”

Wilmeth and Kaiser will participate in the Emerging Leaders Summit, the cornerstone of the prestigious program, which equips Republican leaders on best practices and effective ways to legislate and communicate conservative ideas and solutions in their state.

Justin Wilmeth is a Republican member of the Arizona House of Representatives serving Legislative District 15, which includes the north Phoenix area. Follow him on Twitter at @JustinWilmethAZ.

Steve Kaiser is a small business owner, veteran, and a Republican member of the Arizona House of Representatives also serving Legislative District 15.
